Press Release 7th December 2011

Basepoint Eastcote appoints new assistant centre manager

Basepoint operated business centre, Canada House, is pleased to announce that Carrie Hughes has recently been appointed as assistant manager, supporting manager, Tracey Griggs, at the centre.

Carrie has relocated from Scotland where she had previously worked in hotel event management for seven years before marrying her husband who is in the RAF. After this, Carrie worked as an IT Analyst for PwC in the Highlands of Scotland before moving to Ruslip this autumn.

Carrie comments: "I chose Basepoint as it is a wonderful company with its charity values and commitment to the local community. Although I have not directly come from a business background, my new position still has many of the same aspects and high standards which I am accustomed to upholding. One of my responsibilities will be to help promote the meeting rooms, in which I hope to bring those five star touches from my hotel background!"

Basepoint Eastcote is only a short drive from both Heathrow Airport and a number of regional motorways, and also offers fast access to Central London via the nearby Eastcote underground station. The centre offers around 10,780 sq. ft of high quality, fully serviced office space and also encompasses a further 3,225 sq. ft of warehouse and self storage facilities for use by licensees.
